Afghanistan

RocKabul

Director(s): Travis Beard

Prod. Countries:

Afghanistan, Australia, India,
Turkey, Bosnia and Herzegovina

Prod. Year: 2018

Length: 86

Genre: Creative

Documentary

Status: World Premiere

Programme section:

Scopitone

Company: Rockabul Pty Ltd

Contact: Travis Beard

Email:

argusphoto@gmail.com

Phone: +61 479 149 729

Logline: Under Obama, the US government pumped millions into the war in Afghanistan, a tiny portion of which was spent on culture. Even starting-out heavy metal bands could get a subsidy. An Australian soldier becomes the manager of the first local group of foul-mouthed headbangers who dare defy the Taliban.

Premiere

Programme section: José

Campusano

Company: Compañía de cine

Contact: Paulina Portela

Email:

paulina@companiadecine.com

Phone: +54 911 34002718

Logline: The determination and dedication of a former musician who is now a social assistant in Bariloche – one of the best-known tourist resorts in Patagonia – is not enough to avoid the misfortunes experienced by local youths. This film reveals, without concessions, the picture never presented in the postcards of this town. Sold territories: All available except for Argentina (Compañía de cine)

La película infinita

Director(s): Leandro Listorti

Prod. Countries: Argentina

Prod. Year: 2018

Length: 54

Genre: Experimental

Status: World Premiere

Programme section: A

History of Shadows

Company: Maravilla Cine

Contact: Leandro Listorti

Email:

leandro.listorti@gmail.com

Phone: 005491167540994

Logline: Based on the remains of never-completed Argentine features from the archives of the film museum in Buenos Aires. The film is, as it were, a parallel film history: an essay like a cinematographic Frankenstein, that blows new life into images that once seemed unsuccessful and pointless.

Sold territories: All available except for Argentina (INCAA-TV)

Los vagos

Director(s): Gustavo Biazzi

Prod. Countries: Argentina

Prod. Year: 2017

Length: 92

Genre: Fiction

Status: International

Premiere

Programme section: Bright Future

Company: La Unión de los Ríos

Contact: Agustina Llambi Campbell

Email:

agustina@launiondelosrios.com

Phone: +54 11 48154677

Logline: Beautifully filmed, bittersweet coming of age story about the Argentine student Ernesto and his friends, who are delaying adulthood for a while with drink, parties, hanging out on the beach and seducing girls. Ernesto flirts constantly and only realizes what is at stake when he is in danger of losing his girlfriend, Paula.

Sold territories: All available except for Argentina (La Unión de los Ríos)

Una ciudad de provincia

Director(s): Rodrigo Moreno

Prod. Countries: Argentina

Prod. Year: 2017

Length: 88

Genre: Creative

Documentary

Programme section: Voices

Company: Compañía Amateur

Contact: Rodrigo Moreno

Email:

companiamateur@gmail.com

Phone: +54 911 69423811

Logline: The great Argentine filmmaker Rodrigo Moreno (El custodio, Reimon) composed an intimate, amiable and yet unforgettable symphony of the life of every country town in the world in several vignettes – even if this focuses on Colón, a couple of hours north of Buenos Aires. Both lyrical and modest.

Sold territories: All available except for Argentina (Compañía Amateur)

Zama

Director(s): Lucrecia Martel

Prod. Countries: Argentina, Spain, Netherlands, France

Prod. Year: 2017

Length: 115

Genre: Fiction

Programme section: A History of Shadows

Company: The Match Factory GmbH

Contact: Michael Weber

Email:

michael.weber@matchfactory.de

Phone: +49 221 5397090

Logline: At the end of the eighteenth century Zama, a servant of the Spanish crown, whiles away his time on the banks of a South American river waiting for a letter from the king to reunite him with his wife – and civilisation. Martel's film is an enchanting and original masterpiece that seems to have been made in a different era.

Have You Seen the Listers?

Director(s): Eddie Martin
Prod. Countries: Australia
Prod. Year: 2017
Length: 86
Genre: Creative Documentary
Status: International Premiere
Programme section: Voices
Company: Dogwoof
Contact: Luke Brawley
Email: luke@dogwoof.com
Phone: +44 207 253 6244

Logline:

Engaging documentary about the high and low points in the life of world-famous Australian graffiti artist Anthony Lister, who started his career decorating traffic light control boxes in Brisbane. 'Brizzy Banksy', was the headline in a local paper. Lister always had a camera with him, so we see everything first-hand.

Sold territories: All available

except for Australia and New Zealand (Transmission Films)

Sweet Country

Director(s): Warwick Thornton
Prod. Countries: Australia
Prod. Year: 2017
Length: 113
Genre: Fiction
Programme section:

Limelight
Company: Memento Films International
Contact: Sata Cissokho
Email: sata@memento-films.com
Phone: 0033 153 349033

Logline: Two Aboriginals on the run and a group of Australian vigilantes would make great characters in a tense chase thriller. However, director and cameraman Warwick Thornton turns Sweet Country into a stylized, beautifully shot Western based around the biting mutual fear between blacks and whites.

Trailer:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=albFSXBVLE>

Sold territories: Australia (Transmission), Austria (Thimfilm), Benelux (Cherry Pickers), Bulgaria (Bulgaria Film Vision), China (Lemon Tree), Greece & Cyprus (One from the Heart), Denmark (Angel), France (The Jokers), Hungary (ADS), Italy (102 Distribution), Mexico (Cineteca), Middle East (Falcon Films), Norway (As Fidalgo), Poland (Aurora), Romania (Macondo), Spain (Wanda), Switzerland (Praesens), Turkey (Filmarti), United Kingdom (Thunderbird Releasing) and USA & Canada (Goldwyn Films).

Top Knot Detective

Director(s): Dominic Pearce, Aaron McCann
Prod. Countries: Australia, Japan
Prod. Year: 2017
Length: 86
Genre: Fiction
Programme section: Rotterdämmerung
Company: Creative Artists Agency (CAA)
Contact: Nick Ogiony
Email: Nick.Ogiony@caa.com
Phone: +1 (213) 595 5829

Logline: The story behind the hilariously bad Japanese television series Ronin Suii Tentai, which was released in Australia in the early 1990s as Top Knot Detective and became a gigantic cult hit there. After only two seasons, the series stopped and its deviser, director, writer, producer and protagonist Takashi Takamoto mysteriously disappeared.

Trailer:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OJdKA_FdEDQ

Sold territories:

Austria

Director(s): Johann Lurf

Prod. Countries: Austria

Prod. Year: 2017

Length: 90

Genre: Experimental

Programme section: Curtain Call

Company: sixpackfilm

Contact: Brigitta Burger-Utzer

Email:

brigitta@sixpackfilm.com

Phone: 0043 699 11391906

Logline: What exactly is written in the stars?

Experimental filmmaker Lurf scoured over a century of cinematic history for depictions of the heavens. Without compromising his criteria, he edited them together chronologically, including their original soundtracks. A visually dizzying trip.

Sold territories:

Belgium

Charlie en Hannah gaan uit

Director(s): Bert Scholiers

Prod. Countries: Belgium

Prod. Year: 2017

Length: 76

Genre: Fiction

Programme section:

Limelight

Company: Minds Meet

Contact: Tomas Leyers

Email: tomas@mindsmeet.be

Phone: +32 4 764 0015

Logline: Okay then, just one more – although tonight Hannah really wanted to get home on time. Luckily, Charlie still has some good stuff. Suddenly blocks of flats start to talk, they wind up in an Italian horror film and a surprised friend is reanimated with a dose of alcohol. Wondrous, playful debut, largely in black-and-white, from a new Belgian talent.

Genre: Fiction

Status: International

Premiere

Programme section: Bright Future

Company: The Open Reel

Contact: Cosimo Santoro

Email: cs@theopenreel.com

Phone: +33 18 0180630

Logline: A melancholy heist film: during the holidays three men try to break into the Belgian National Bank from a florist's shop. During their rain-hampered digging, they discuss trips to sunnier climes, the basic laws of physics and those back at home in Eastern Europe.

Trailer:

Genre: Fiction

Programme section:

Rotterdammerung

Company: BAC Films

Contact: Gilles Sousa

Email: g.sousa@bacfilms.fr

Phone: +33 6 77248526

Logline: Scorching sun, art, bullets and a suitcase full of gold create an explosive mix.

A Mediterranean paradise becomes a brutal, stylised battlefield where two artists clash with a gang, greed with betrayal and jealousy with eroticism. Hallucinatory police thriller ode to Giallo film, the perfect Italian pulps from the 1960s.

Sold territories: -

Premiere

Programme section: Bright Future

Company: Inti Films

Contact: Irena Taskovski

Email:

irena@taskovskifilms.com

Phone: +44 75 62 977 143

Logline: A tenement building in Ghent is about to be demolished. The dismal edifice was home to many people, sometimes reluctantly. A richly variegated documentary portrait about poverty and indifference, but also about love, in which the attention jumps repeatedly from one inhabitant to another.

Sold territories: All available except for Belgium

Resurrection

Director(s): Kristof Hoornaert

Prod. Countries: Belgium

Prod. Year: 2017

Length: 110

Genre: Fiction

Programme section: Bright Future

Company: TVCO

Contact: Geremia Biagiotti

Email:

geremia.b@gmail.com

Phone: +39 333 33050054

Logline: Impeccable slow cinema. Johan Leysen makes a great impression as a hermit who finds a half-naked young man in the forest and faces a moral dilemma. His intense and subdued acting and the pure, concise images provide a plethora of clues to fathom his hidden motives.

Trailer:

Genre: Creative

Documentary

Programme section: A

History of Shadows

Company: Auguste Orts

Contact: Marie Logie

Email: marie@augusteorts.be

Phone: +32 2 8808560

Logline: This polyphonic film by the Belgian film artist about the history of Europe and art is an unforgettable, sensual journey between memory and nightmare. To a meditative, threatening soundtrack, we hear a series of monologues by poets and crazy people, mothers and children. Meanwhile, the image forces the eye to reflect on what and where.

Sold territories: All available except for Belgium (CBA, Auguste Orts & Cobra Films)

Zagros

Director(s): Sahim Omar Kalifa

Phone: +55(21)98133 7344
Logline: The career of Brazilian filmmaker Neville D'Almeida (Belo Horizonte, 1941) is full of ups and downs, scandals and successes, sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll (or samba), censorship and fierce criticism, but also artistic innovation and lust for life. An intriguing piece of Brazilian film history, this documentary is filled with interviews and NSFW film fragments.

Programme section: Bright Future

Company: Pignata Filmes

Contact: Max Eluard

Email:

maxeluard@gmail.com

Phone: + 55 11 999 727 344

Logline: An eccentric family with a mission travels through dictatorial Brazil to save humanity from destruction. In this Dadaist, cheerful/nihilist film trip, director Tavinho Teixeira also plays the role of travel guide along a colourful parade of sailors, whores, generals, corrupt priests and trigger-happy nuns.

Company: Vidéographe
Contact: Jade Wiseman

Email: festival@videographe.org
Phone: +1-514-521-2116
Logline: In 1958, influential film critic André Bazin started his own film project, about Roman churches. He died a few months later, leaving his dream project in the form of photographs and notes. This documentary essay reanimates (quite literally) the uncompleted script. Pondering ruins and restoration, we are forced to acknowledge the passing of time.

Contact: Mike Maryniuk
Email: maryniukfilm@gmail.com
Phone: 204-955-1782

Logline: This deaf-and-dumb young man who is called 'the Goose' by his scoffing acquaintances makes the most psychedelic of journeys by fax machine. Like a goose leaving for the sun in the winter, this anti-hero is looking for somewhere else to find his own voice. Absurdist drama that makes eager use of stop-motion carpet figures, silent-film references, computer animation, video and arcade games.

Company: Movie View

Contact: Mengchen Wen

Email:

mengchen@movieview-int.com

Phone: 0086 158 9599 4822

Logline: Chinese artist Xu Bing's directorial debut could be described as The Truman Show, but in Real Life. He weaves a story of a boy and a girl in modern-day China out of security camera footage. This by turns shocking and poetic, but always fascinating, experiment reflects on our obsessive visual culture.

Company: Celluloid Dreams

Contact: Hengameh Panahi

Email: hengameh@celluloid-dreams.com

Phone: +33 1 49700370

Logline: When describing a film by Zhang Miaoyan, you can't avoid using terms like 'hypnotic tracking shots'. Lurking in all corners behind the beauty of a quiet, misty canal town in a Chinese delta, however, is a menacing reality: (male) sexual violence and corruption. A dreamy poem becomes a wordless indictment.

Logline: Show me your attic and I'll tell you who you are! In this very personal and universal cinematographic essay, Digna Sinke travels to Zeeland and Bali, through faded photos to minimalist digital nomads. What to do with all those spare buttons? If you don't keep anything, who will know what grandma's tablecloth felt like?

Logline: Robert Lee was one of the black Americans who heeded Kwame Nkrumah's call to return home. Not only to help build up Ghana, the first African state to liberate itself, but also to stimulate the liberation of the whole continent. A documentary that uses witnesses' testimony to present the many historical threads of Pan-Africanism.

I, Tonya

Director(s): Craig Gillespie

Prod. Countries: USA

Prod. Year: 2017

Length: 119

Genre: Fiction

Programme section:

Limelight

Company: Sierra / Affinity

Contact: Nida Karnani

Logline: Tragicomic biographical drama about the rapid rise and mediagenic demise of the American figure skater Tonya Harding. Talent and perseverance lead her to reach the absolute top, but was it the bizarre attack on her teammate and rival that really made Tonya world-famous and notorious? How could things get that far?
